Wayne Guthrie Addresses TDEA Meeting Today

More than fourteen hundred educators from the twelve counties comprising the state teacher education association will assemble in Van Meter Auditorium today for the second session of this district educational assembly.

Wayne Guthrie, assistant managing editor of the INDIANAPOLIS NEWS, will be the principal speaker of the two-day meeting.

Miss Mary Lee Travelstead, Franklin, presided over the opening session last night in Van Meter auditorium. This session was highlighted by the election of officers for the coming year and addresses by Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky and of the Kentucky Education Association, and Miss Nanlyne Brown, Lexington, president of the State Classroom Teachers Association.

The program will open at 9:30 this morning with a music session under direction of Dr. Weldon Hart, head of the music department. Greetings will be extended to visiting delegates by Dr. Paul L. Garrett, college president.

Moss Walton, Russellville, president of the association, will preside during today's session. He will introduce E. Kelly Thompson, assistant to the president at Western, who will in turn introduce Mr. Guthrie as speaker of the morning.

The Indianapolis newspaper man will speak on "Ringside at Bikini." He has delivered over five hundred addresses on this subject since witnessing the historic atom bomb test on the Pacific Island.

A business session will conclude the morning program, after which a luncheon will be held at 12 o'clock at the Archway inn for superintendents and attendance officers.

From 1:30 until 2:45 this afternoon, the association's elementary department will be in charge of the program at Van Meter auditorium.

CLEW Program Proves Success

Christian Living Emphasis Week ended on Western's campus last week. This movement was sponsored by the University Christian Mission with the Reverend James L. Stoner, national director of the mission as the leader. Other speakers were Mrs. Vera S. Lowrie, writer and lecturer from Bowling Green, Ohio; Dr. Roland Dutton, pastor of the DePaul Baptist church, St. Louis, Missouri; Dr. Leslie R. Smith, pastor of the Central Christian church, Lexington, and Dr. J. Maurice Trimmer, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, Huntington, West Virginia.

The theme of CLEW was "He Is Able" and "Better Practice and Understanding of Christian Living."

At the evaluation session on Thursday night, all agreed that CLEW had been a success and a great number of students had been reached, but also that there was room for improvement next year. Among the changes suggested for next year's program were more classroom lectures by the speakers, and a series of four morning chapel appearances by the same speaker so that continuity would not be lost.

Each day's program began with breakfast at 7:00 in the Potter hall cafeteria. This meeting was attended by the leaders and members of the campus committee. At this time the mistakes made the day before were discussed and the plans for that day were considered.

The leaders spent the morning in personal conferences with students or teaching in the classes.

On Monday morning, at 10:00, a mass meeting was held in Van Meter

Dr. Wilson Speaks Before Conference

The Kentucky Ornithological Society, of which Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the English department was one of the three founders, celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary at annual fall meeting held this year at Glasgow on October 8-10.

Dr. Wilson has served as an officer in the society during most of its existence and has edited the society's publication THE KENTUCKY WARBLER. He delivered a talk on the history of the Kentucky Ornithological Society since its beginning twenty-five years ago.

During the meeting programs were presented by the society on Friday and Saturday evenings at the Spottswood hotel, and on Saturday and Sunday mornings field trips were conducted.

The Tennessee Ornithological Society, the parent of the Kentucky group, will collaborate with the Kentucky society during the coming anniversary meeting.

Notice To Advertisers Effective October 25

Effective October 25, the price of advertising in the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD will be 50c per column inch. This small increase in the cost of advertising represents only a fraction of the increased cost which we are forced to pay for the printing of the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD.

The old rate of 40c per inch has been in effect for several years. We regret the necessity for an increase and promise our advertisers the highest type of service that it is possible for a college newspaper to give. We have a guaranteed minimum circulation of 3,500 copies, and at times our circulation ranges as high as 4,500 copies.

The excellent support which the advertisers of Bowling Green have given us in the past is solicited for the future and will be most appreciated by everyone associated with the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD.

Mr. Wood Heads English Workshop

Mr. Wilson E. Wood, of the English department, was employed this summer as consultant for an English workshop in Jacksonville, Florida.

The workshop, which was sponsored by the University of Florida, ran for two and one-half weeks. Its problem was to revise, as far as possible, the curriculum in English for the Duval County high schools. The forty-four teachers who took part in the workshop received three hours credit in curriculum from the University of Florida.

The supervisor of secondary education in Duval County is a former Kentuckian, Mr. Ray Vinson, who attended Western during the twenties and later was graduated from Bowling Green Business university. After the workshop was over, Mr. Wood, accompanied by Mrs. Wood and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Wood, spent ten days touring Florida. They arrived home September 12.

Work On Annual To Begin Within Next Few Weeks

According to an announcement by Mr. Willson Wood, faculty sponsor of the annual, the 1949 TALISMAN staff will be headed by Betty Ray, editor-in-chief; June Baxter, assistant editor; and Joe Baxter, production editor.

Betty Ray, a graduate of Bowling Green high school, where she was editor-in-chief of the school annual, THE BEACON, is an English major. She is a member of the Western Players and played the part of "Mariam" in DEAR RUTH which was presented by the Western Players last year. She was chairman of the Campus Committee for CLEW.

June Baxter, who comes from South Hill, is an English and library science major. An active member of the Baptist Student Union, she is now beginning her third year as a member of the BSU Council. Last year she was society editor of the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD, and is the feature editor of this year's HERALD.

A Cheerleader at Western for the year 1946-47, Joe Baxter whose home is in Louisville, is also an English major. He is the typographic editor of the HERALD.

The job of art editor is in the hands of Omer Gosnell, an agriculture major from Glasgow. Several of his paintings have been on display in the reserve room of the library.

Bill Lewis, an English major from Franklin, is the sports editor. He holds this same position of the HERALD staff.

The Military editor is Harold Rice, an industrial arts major from Denver, Kentucky.

Corinne Jackson, a graduate of Bowling Green high school, is the club editor. She is an English major. In high school she served on THE BEACON staff.

Cornette Named Texas President

President Paul L. Garrett has returned from Canyon, Texas, where he took part in the installation on October 2, of Dr. James P. Cornette as president of West Texas State college, which was founded in 1910. Educators from far and near joined the academic procession to honor Dr. Cornette, described by Judge William Kerr, president of the board of regents as a worthy successor to Dr. J. A. Hill.

Dr. Cornette was a member of the English department at Western from 1930 until 1945, when he accepted the position of Dean of Baylor University at Waco, Texas.

Only 39 years of age, he received the AB degree from Kentucky Wesleyan, the master's degree from the University of Virginia, and the PhD degree from George Peabody College in 1938.

He is replacing Dr. J. A. Hill, who retired this summer, after serving as the college's president for thirty years. Dr. Hill stated that they had made the best possible selection in securing a man who is qualified in guiding the generation now in the process of being educated, to make this a better, safer world in which to live.

The general theme of Dr. Cornette's address was "Man and Time." His speech dealt principally with the importance of educational and spiritual growth without which degradation flourishes. He stated, "Youth must blaze the trail, crossing the last frontier to intellectual and spiritual understanding."

Dean Shirley presided at the inauguration, introducing three score or more of delegates and representatives.

Hilltoppers Tackle Union University Bulldogs In First Home Game Of Season

Coach Jack Clayton's Western Hilltoppers will make their 1948 home debut tomorrow night when they entertain the Union University Bulldogs of Jackson, Tennessee, at the Western stadium. The Western gridgers will attempt to reach the 500 mark by turning back the invaders from the Volunteer state. Opening the season with three tilts on the road, the T-minded Toppers enter the Union game with a record of one win and two losses.

The Red and Gray footballers broke into the win column last week by edging Morehead, 19-14, after dropping decisions to Evansville, 12-6, and Arkansas State, 13-12.

Despite numerous injuries to key performers the Toppers showed improvement last week by rallying to take the measure of the Morehead Eagles, ably coached by Ellis Johnson.

The visiting aggregation is under the very competent generalship of Coach Fred Delay and his three assistants, Turney Ford, Harry Johnson and R. A. Long. The Bulldogs have a group of light but speedy stars cluttering their lineup. The line averages but 175.5 pounds and their backfield just slightly heavier than 160. They employ a modified single wing usually with one man shifting.

At the helm of the enemy attack will be Gill Gideon, 185 pound fullback, and his two halfbacks, Kenneth Martindale and Clarence Knighton, both of whom weight in at approximately 170. These grid stalwarts possess more than average speed and propose a threat to the enemy at all times.

The defensive bulwark of the Bulldogs is built around big and massive Ray Hoppe, 193 pound center, who not only shines on offense but has also proved himself to be a very capable line back on defense. Anchoring the defenses of Union will be Rudy Davis, 204 pound guard and alternate captain. Although Davis may not draw a starting assignment, he definitely will

FEF RALLY

A pep rally for the Hilltopper football squad will be staged in the Stadium tonight at 6:45. In the event of rain the event will be moved to Van Meter auditorium.

The Morehead victory last week opens the way for a successful season. Show the team that it has the support of the entire school as it faces the Union eleven tomorrow night.

see plenty of action when the defenses begin to stiffen and the offensive going gets tough. Holding down the passing for Union will be one of two very capable performers, Wilfred Short, 161 pound halfback, or Martindale. The punting assignments will be given to Joyner, a left-footed kicker who has been acclaimed time and time again for his accuracy when the chips are down. The visitors also have a very lengthy list of competent reserves whose talents are at their disposal.

OUR FACE IS STILL RED

Anyone who has ever had anything to do with a newspaper knows that mistakes are bound to occur. The COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD tries very hard to keep them from happening but like any other publication expects its share during the year.

Occasionally, however, we score a blunder and in such cases we can only ask for patience and generosity of heart on the part of our readers. As an illustration of what we mean, in the last issue of the HERALD we ran a three-column over a twenty-column inch story on the conclusions reached by college administrative officials who attended a national conference at Estes Park, Colorado, during the past summer.

The story was sent to the HERALD by the public relations director of the conference. It was one of the very few unsolicited stories that have been run in the HERALD in recent years. It was so well written and seemed so timely that we featured it. Now all we had to do was fill in the name of the representative from Western who attended the conference, probably the simplest assignment that we will ever have.

Dr. Lee Jones, head of the education department was Western's representative at the conference, but our story stated that Dr. Bert R. Smith, of the education department, took the long trip to Colorado for the meeting. We imagine that Dr. Smith practically fainted when he read that he had been on such a journey. We can also imagine that Dr. Jones must have thought that he had dreamed that he went to Estes Park, and we don't want to imagine what either one of them thought of the reportorial accuracy of the HERALD. However, both of these gentlemen took our mistake good-naturedly, and we must say with an abundance of generosity.

All we can say is that we will always have sympathy for the fellow who strikes out with the bases loaded. Never again will we criticize the man who drops the ball on the goal line, and as long as our face stays as red as it is, we think we will always have a kindly feeling for anyone who in anyway plops, fizzles, blunders, or just plain plays hello, Dr. Jones and Dr. Smith, thanks."

CLEW PROGRAM SUCCESSFUL

Christian Living Emphasis Week ended last week on the Hill. Those who had charge of the program should be congratulated for bringing such unusual and talented speakers and leaders to the students here. The week, we believe, was an enriching experience for all who took part.

Leaders and students alike agreed that the spiritual life of Western had been strengthened. A week of close personal contact with some of the outstanding spiritual leaders of the nation could not fail to result in greatly strengthened convictions, but the real value of CLEW cannot be measured just now. Only the passing of time will make possible any complete evaluation of the week's work.

The speakers were willing to spend all the time necessary to help the student with their personal problems. Students are rarely given equal opportunity to seriously discuss their uncertainties and worries with persons possessing such a rich background of experience and training in dealing with the most pressing and trying problems of mankind.

The Campus Committee has been converted into a Continuation Committee to carry on the work started by CLEW, and to prepare the way for an even more outstanding program next year. Their earnest efforts are worthy of the support of all.

Good to hear from REBECCA HUGHES, '45, Oadiz, now teaching vocational home economics in the Maroa Unit high school in Illinois. She says that her two sisters, Margaret and Virginia, both Western grads, have returned to Nobel, Illinois, and Ridgeby, Maryland, to teach this year. . . . RALPH CROTZWELL, '48, writes that even though he only spent one year at Western, he has always been wishing that he could have returned for the opening of school this year. He says that he is anxiously awaiting the first copy of the HERALD. Ralph is teaching music in the Bainbridge, Ohio, school. . . . MARY ALICE OWEN, '48, is teaching English and physical education in Nobel, Illinois, and hopes to return to Western for Homecoming. . . . T. O. THANKS, FOR THIS INFO., fellow alumni members, but why not let me have a letter from each of you? . . . something about yourself, your family, and, or your friends from Western.

From M. R. MAYFIELD, '48, Gainesville, Fla., comes the following greeting:

"At the moment I am in the midst of the first week in the University of Florida. I am doing graduate work in Physics here, along with instructing in certain laboratory work. I find it quite pleasant here and am convinced it is a fine school, but I also find that I miss Western and the fine people I knew there."

ROSE JOHNSON BIDINIAN, '45, writes from California:

"My husband and I are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD, again this year."

"It was a pleasure to be on Western's campus for a short time this past summer and visit with a few old friends we met at Western. Western, the faculty, and its activities will always hold a dear spot in our hearts, even though we are 2,000 miles away."

"We wish you a very successful year."

CHARLIE VETTNER, director of Jefferson county recreation, has just returned from the National Recreation Congress which met this year in Omaha, Nebraska. Charlie served as chairman of the section on county recreation.

Keep up the good work, for the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD is very dear to Western students and alumni the world over.

Enrollment For Term Announced

An enrollment of 1,785 students has been announced by college officials. The number is 46 less than the enrollment for 1947-48.

Enrolled in the Training school are 563, including 35 in the Rural Training school.

In the Western Trade school enrollment was reported at 140. Of this number 60 are attending day classes and 80, night classes.

Approximately 75 students are registered for Saturday classes. Principally, they are teachers-in-service from adjoining counties who are enrolled for graduate work or senior college courses.

The combined rolls of all divisions of the college represent an increase of 112 in the overall enrollment over 1947.

A marked decrease was noted in for freshman classes. About 100 veterans were enrolled in the freshman class this year, while about 250 registered last year, he declared.

Among the scholarships that have been awarded are: Two in the amount of $400 each by the Parent Teachers Association in Louisville, one from the Delta Sigma Kappa National Sorority of Clarksville, Indiana; and 150 Ogden scholarships given to the men and women of Warren county.

President Garrett expressed gratitude to the people of Bowling Green for opening their homes to the students, enabling the college to care for so large a number.

"The response to the appeal from the college for quarters has been generous and is greatly appreciated", Mr. Garrett said.

Chemistry Grads Work To Degrees

Graduates from the chemistry department at Western have covered a large area in selecting universities in which to continue their studies.

Marion Miller will receive the PhD degree in chemistry at Northwestern university this month. After receiving his degree, he will go to Harvard where he will work on a post doctorate fellowship with Dr. R. B. Woodward.

Other Western students working toward the PhD degree in chemistry are Sam Tinsley, who is in his third year at Northwestern university; Maurine Morgan, who is working toward the PhD degree in bio-chemistry at Iowa State, and Gwendolyn Billings Wood, who is teaching at Ohio State while she works toward her degree.

Other universities have also received chemistry majors from Western. Gordon Wilson Jr. is continuing the second year of his graduate studies at the University of Kentucky, while James Nash, Patricia Anderson are attending the University of Florida. Marie Likens chose the University of Louisville. Al Zimmerman is in his first year at Indiana university, and Josephine Williams is beginning her first year at Northwestern university. Other students at Ohio State are John Fisher and Rolla Dyer, who are both in their second year.

Reading Rooms To Get Fluorescent Lighting

By George Wright

Fluorescent lights will soon be installed in the library reading room. Approval of the order has been received from the state division of purchases at Frankfort. This arrangement will provide fluorescent ceiling lights for the main reading room, reserve room, and periodical rooms.

All libraries built before 1946 have suffered from inadequate lighting. These new installations will benefit everyone.

The library section of the Third District Education Association will hold a luncheon meeting in the teaching materials room, third floor of the library, at noon on October 15. Miss Elizabeth Stagner will preside. Lunch will be served, followed by a short business session, and a program in charge of Miss Margie Helm, Western head librarian.

A special display of books on Christian Living is now in the library. These include books on marriage, prayer, Bible study and church work. The books may be borrowed.

Carl Sandburg in the collection of American folklore, "The American Songbook," calls Jesse James "the one American bandit, who is classical, one who is to this country what Robin Hood is to England. . . . Whose exploits from frequent retelling in story, ballad, and song, have become mythical and apocryphal."

MISSOURI LEGEND by Elizabeth B. Ginty, has been chosen as the fall production of the Western Players. MISSOURI LEGEND concerns itself with the last days of Jesse James, and is built around a sequence of

"Jesse had a wife to mourn all her life,

runs through the action of the play as the ballad is composed by Billy Gashade (one of the principal characters), out of his hero-worship for Jesse James.

Toppers Lose To Arkansas Eleven

Toppers Overwhelm Morehead Eagles In First Conference Game Of Season

Kay's stadium, Jonesboro, Arkansas, was the scene of a colorful contest in which the Western Hilltoppers finally were defeated by a determined, hard hitting Arkansas State team. Even after two magnificent runs by Western's speedy jitterbug, Hal Taylor, the Toppers were topped by a score of 13-12.

The Hilltoppers were dressed in solid white uniforms with crimson numbers. In contrast, the Indians had solid red suits with white numbers. Band night was observed in which six bands participated in the half time entertainment.

The Arkansas Indians received the kick off and advanced to their own 23 yard line where Joe Talley and "Red" Bean halted the Indian runner. At the conclusion of seven more plays, the ball rested on Western's 13 yard line with the team from Arkansas having a count of first down and 10 to go. This demonstration of defense, however, established a strong barricade and Western took possession of the ball on their own 13 yard line. After receiving a penalty and failing to secure a first down, Harold Murphy punted.

The "Redmen" again obtained enough yardage for a first down. Western took over on their 15 after Jim Pickens intercepted a pass thrown by Joe Shaw, the Indian quarterback. The Hilltoppers then advanced to their own 36 where Hal Taylor went over tackle to sprint 64 yards for the first tally of the game. Western failed to make the conversion. The touchdown play was

The grid squad of Western Kentucky realized successfully the first phase of their dream of KIAO pigskin prowess as they hurdled their initial conference obstacles by upsetting the Morehead Eagles, 19-14 at Morehead, Saturday night.

The awesome power generated by the win-hungry Clayton grid machine, whose offensive might prior to this contest assumed an almost non-existent form, finally exploded. The potency of the explosion not only left the Eagles frantically flapping their tired pinions in futility but also vaulted the Toppers into the "circle of roses" for the first time in the current gridiron campaign.

In the early stages of the tilt Western "T" formation pigskin mechanism with their unheralded offensive attack shifted into low gear for the take-off, and take-off they did. The Toppers capitalized on a very poor 16 yard Morehead punt in the acquisition of their initial tally. The kick from the foot of Eagle halfback Kirtley sailed out of bounds on the Morehead 27 yard line. It was a first down for the Hilltoppers with their first real scoring opportunity of the still-young contest. Halfback Sonny Jones needed only two line plunges coupled with some fancy open field running to breeze through the secondary and tertiary defenses of the opposition and eventually cross into pay dirt standing up with the first tally of the game. Montelli's conversion was good and the score stood Western 7, Morehead 0. This drive was not the last to be exhibited by the Toppers in the first quarter however, for the alertness of guard Joe Talley on the final play of the initial quarter enabled him to recover an enemy fumble on the Morehead 37 yard marker. The Hilltopper grid machine then shifted into second gear and picked up more power for their utilization in the event of stiffening enemy defensive tactics. All this in vain though, for Jim Pickens, quarterbacking smartly at this time, caught Morehead napping and took to the airways. From the 37 yard stripe he unleashed a pass which Frank Wallheiser took into custody on the 25 and rambled the remaining distance for the second Western touchdown. Montelli's placement failed this time and the boys from Bowling Green led 13-0.

The gridiron Eagles of Morehead were not forgotten. They trailed considerably in the scoring end of the contest to this point and were fully aware of this deficiency. Undaunted by the sudden surge of power displayed by their opponents however, the Eagles slowly regained their confidence and assignment were initiated to stage a roaring comeback. They were aided in their cause somewhat, although unintentionally by the boys from the hill top, but the tables were due to turn at this point. It was the Toppers turn to contract fumbleitis, and thus it happened, midway in the second quarter. Gene Glod took the ball on a reverse, hit the line and fumbled the leather on the Morehead 18 yard line.

Eagles launched a sustained drive which carried them to the Western 36 at which time the very capable Morehead quarterback Hoffman hit the middle of the Topper forward wall, found the touchdown door wide open and romped the entire distance for the home team's first score. The placement by Mullins split the uprights thus keeping Morehead in the game. The score remained Western 13, Morehead 7, as the gun sounded the end of the first half.

The third quarter kick-off was taken by the Eagle halfback Jerry Wing on his own 12 yard line, who advanced the ball up field to the Western 4 before he was pulled down. The next play from the line of scrimmage saw Perplish power his way through the Clayton defenses and into the end zone for the marker. Mullins again split the uprights and Morehead surged to the front of the scoring column to the tune of 14-13.

It was do or die for the boys from Bowling Green from this point on and they were not to be denied their first victory of the season. They staged such an avaricious drive that it easily overshadowed any previous gridiron play of the evening and which, at the final whistle, proved to be the winning margin in the classic. It was the combined talents of Sonny Jones and Fred Clayton which moved the ball downfield to the Morehead 33 yard stripe. Pat McNeil at this point took the ball and scampered 22 yards for a Western first down on the enemy 10. Jones contributed another 7 yard plunge after which Shirley Underwood forged his way into pay dirt for the winning counter. Montelli's boot was again wide and the score remained Western 19, Morehead 14.

After the lead was well in the hands of the Clayton gridders the boys from Morehead seemed to grow panicky in an attempt to get back into the ball game. Passes from the Baseball season is over, duck season isn't open, it's too early for track and too late for tennis, so that leaves us with the autumn favorite, football.

First off, we would like to run a little item that has occasioned considerable comment on the Hill during the past weeks. This is primarily for the freshmen, because we are sure that those who are aware of the rule would not be guilty of violating it.

TRADITION AND SCHOOL RULES DEMAND THAT ONLY THE WESTERN "W" BE WORN ON THE HILL. SO OUT OF RESPECT TO BOTH OF THESE, LET'S TAKE OFF THE HIGH SCHOOL LETTERS. THE BOYS WITH THE BIG GRAY "W" WILL APPRECIATE IT AS WELL AS THE REST OF YOUR FRIENDS. THANKS.

Hal Taylor, Western's speedy half-back, has totaled 18 of Western's 37 points this year. The Louisville flash did all of the scoring in the first two games, but Underwood, Jones, and Wallheiser each crossed pay dirt in last Saturday's tussle. So far Western has been able to convert only one of six extra-point attempts.

The Eastern Maroons flashed the danger signal from Richmond last Saturday as they downed Murray, 6-0. Western plays Eastern November 13, and Murray Thanksgiving Day. We expect the Toppers to be ready and waiting by then.

An interesting feature of the Morehead tilt was the punting of Western's quarterback, Jim Pickens. Slim Jim lifted the ball 5 times, for an average of 44.4 yards per try.

Here's a little note of interest for the local prognosticators. Morehead beat TPI by the same margin as Chattanooga. The Moccasins lost to Georgia, 14-7. Western beat Morehead 19-14. Calling Dr. Lit.

Jimmy Haynes, all KIAM guard for the '47 Toppers, is now enjoying a successful season as coach of the Russellville Panthers. Last week his crew trounced Providence 41-6 for their third straight win. Along the same line, Dee Gibson and Odie Spears are loafing around the home town at present. Both boys plan to leave for positions with pro outfits.

We are strictly going out on a limb with this little addition to the column, but here goes. We like Western over Union by 20, Marshall over Murray by 7, TPI over Morehead by 7, Louisville over Akron by 6, Eastern over Emory and Henry by 12. See you tonight at the pep rally.

one of exact precision with a key block by Sonny Jones, Western's lead was short as a result of Jim Hinson scoring for Arkansas State. The first half ended with the score tied at 6-6, both touchdowns being tallied in the first quarter.

The second half opened with Western receiving the ball. The Hilltoppers roared back and pushed to the Indian's 14 yard line. Arkansas State took over on downs here, as Western failed to get the necessary yardage. After an exchange of kicks the Arkansas team took to the air. Taylor was covering Shearburn but lost his footing; Shearburn easily caught the ball and went over the goal line. Arkansas' kick was good for the point. The third quarter ended with the Indians setting the pace of 13-6.

On the fifth play of the last quarter Hal Taylor again went over his tackle to make the score 13-12. Western's inefficiency at kicking ended their chances of stalemating the game. With 30 seconds of play remaining, Smith of Arkansas State intercepted a pass tossed by Pickens. The game ended with Western at the short end of a 13-12 count.

Western made 296 yards on ground plays but advanced only 27 yards by passing. The Hilltoppers completed 4 out of 10 passes and made 9 first downs. Arkansas State secured 223 yards by ground and 81 yards by air. The Indians completed 5 passes from 15 attempts with 15 first downs to their credit.

James A. Butts entertained several of his friends from Paducah here during the past week.

Harold M. Markle was an attendant in the Ford-Heinsohn wedding, which took place in Louisville on Saturday.

the Hilltopper viewpoint we find that the Toppers will again have to go afield without the services of their ace kicker, Harold Murphy, who is still sidelined and nursing his injured knee. Other men suffering injuries this week are Hoyt Threet, Gene Glod and John Rudovich, all these may be available for limited service only in the coming fray. It is significant to note at this time that the majority of the injuries received by certain members of the football squad were not administered in foreign gridiron competition but were received on the practice field. Jones, Pat McNeil and Fred Clayton are the other likely starters in the Western backfield. It is un-

Victory.
